EDITOR'S

Each year the editor of our Torch writes of the pressures and problems involved in putting a yearbook together. The Torch '77 staff has had its share of last minute layouts and deadlines, along with trying to keep our book unified. Our class is the first to graduate from two different campuses. We realized that our task wouldn't be easy but we've done our best to devise a book that represents our class as a whole, regardless of the obvious separations.

We extend our most sincere thanks to Mr. Govoni, Mrs. Churchill, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Depoto, and our photographers from Dodge-Murphy, without whose time and effort our ideas could not have been executed.

Jean Axford, Editor-in-Chief

WE WOULD LIKE TO REMEMBER . . .

MELODY NILSON

LOOK TO THIS DAY

For it is Life

The very life of life. In its brief course lies all the verities and realities of existence,
the bliss of growth, the splender of action,
the glory of power.

For yesterday is but a dream, and tomorrow
is only a vision
But today, well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness, and every tomorrow a vision of hope.

Look well, therefore, to this day.

In Memory of James Linehan

DEDICATION

Donald Randall, a legend in his own time, friend, teacher, entertainer and educator . . .

As students we meet a great many teachers, each with his own style, varying in many aspects, but for most of us a teacher such as Mr. Randall comes but once in a lifetime. We remember him for his wit in class, the way he can make a theorem seem interesting, and also for his dedication to his ideals and to better education. As his students recall him:

His zest for life is unreal,
In teaching he used his own style.
He would yell, he would stomp, he would dance, he would sing,
And be teaching you Math all the while.

Of angles and planes he would lecture,
In bearskin coats he would muffle.
Geometry's easily forgotten, of course,
But remember "The Halifax Shuffle."

His character sure is amazing.
His wit is the sharpest around,
For the theorems and laws of geometry's scope.
Never met with an expert so sound.

-J.C.

For all the fun, all the hours of enjoyable classtime, the ideals fondly instilled, we, the class of 77, dedicate our yearbook to Mr. Randall, whom we know will live on and on long after we've gone.

-J.A.

To live your life in your own way ...
To reach for the goals you have set for yourself ...
To be the you that you want to be ... that is success.

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

Before a person can learn to respect others, there should be first self respect. School provides a setting for the young to come in contact with all forms of experiences and all types of people. It is through this daily interchange that we gradually learn the quality of living with ourselves and in doing so learning to live with others. This is the stuff on which our society and our civilization is built.

Sincerely yours,

Principal's Message

The Torch is a living monument to the stress that is placed on the individual at Silver Lake. Your yearbook staff has designed this book to help you remember the excellent opportunities afforded you, the student. Silver Lake is now a two-campus facility. It is your school. It is what you want it to be. The course offerings and the extra-curricular programs are developed and planned to meet your individual needs.

I extend to the "Class of '77" a sincere note of congratulation. May you always reflect your educational background in all of your future endeavors.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Albert F. Argenziano

Housemaster's Message

It finally has come to pass with mortar, brick, tile, paint and lights. Our schools are completed and viewed by their exterior yet judged by their internal accomplishments.

To you the members of the Senior Class your accomplishments have been many often under difficult circumstances.

Education, today more than ever seeks to develop a person fully - one who can reason and think, who can apply factual knowledge, and who is able to assume the duties of a responsible citizen.

It is important to remember, as you reflect on your years at Silver Lake, that education is a life long process.

I would like to offer my personal best wishes to each of you and hope that in making a contribution to life in whatever you might choose that you also contribute to your own lifetime of happiness.

catch tiny pebbles
as they slip away
through our fingers
as the tide ebbs
away . . . to be with you forever

Life's Path

Come and walk life's path with me I'm scared to go alone
We'll walk, We'll run, We'll cry; along the roads of stone
And when a painful day does decide to end We'll talk of when the morning breaks and how we'll try again Life's path is not an easy one with all it's detour signs But with each others help we'll easily make up our minds And when lives path decides to end and we lay down to die We will not shed one tear my love; we will not want to cry For we will know we proved ourselves; and we'll stay hand in hand When they lift our soul so very high to the so called promise land!!!

I Recall

I recall a little girl
I met so long ago
when how to jump a moving rope
was all you had to know when abc and 123
were new and hard to learn when fun was catching ladybugs and watching fire burn
and I recall her teacher then she seemed to be so cool
"Close your mouth and wash your hands and mind the golden rule" but all in all life was good and days were warm and free
and even now, we still are friends that little girl and me.

a true friend is one who has seen every color and facet of my personality and sticks by me anyway.

Alone,
never involved,
always stand back,
silent,
never a wasted breath,
a better chance of not being hurt or used watch,
but never an opinion
too chancey
Keep your distance and it doesn't hurt so much,
to be left alone,
again.

Whispers

Whispers and shadows
seem to convey one's deepest thoughts
within another's soul
with the utmost of voracity and sincerity not tangible but consisting of vague impressions and surrealism.
and the realization that the world
is not of black and white,
merely different shades of gray.
Whispers can even add a tinge of color.

From tomorrow on, I shall be sad
From tomorrow on!
Today I shall be gay.
What is the use of sadness – tell me that? –
Because these evil winds begin to blow?
Why should I grieve for tomorrow – today?
Tomorrow may be so good, so sunny,
Tomorrow the sun may shine for us again,
We will no longer need to be sad.
From tomorrow on, I shall be sad,
From tomorrow on!
Not today; no, today I will be glad,
And every day, no matter how bitter it be,
I shall say;
From tomorrow on, I shall be sad,
Not today!

M. Syrkin

My bags are packed, I'm ready to go
I'm standing here outside your door
I hate to wake you up to say good-bye
but the dawn is breaking, it's early morn
the taxi's waiting, he's blowing his horn, already I'm so lonesome I could cry.
so kiss me and smile for me
tell me that you'll wait for me
hold me like you'll never let me go I'm leaving . . .

Peter, Paul and Mary

Do you remember?

Once there was you and I
we were so happy then,
we thought the days would never end,
do you remember?
we were young, filled with hopes, life was within my grasp when I reached out and touched you.
do you remember?
You told me you loved me and we talked and dreamed of love and life to come
do you remember?
Those days, once so dear, seem a thousand worlds ago
but I remember.

jean

We are the seeds
our parents have sown
With a little wish
and hope that we grow
With a little love,
and a little care,
a little kindness
Given to that child from above.
A little guidance
a little trouble
and so much understanding and now we've grown with the help of God's love.

A Conversation
When you and I are talking together,
I hear words,
I hear the sound of your voice.
I see your eyes thinking, questioning, understanding.
I see the way you sit and stand and move.
I think about what you say.
I wonder if you are saying what you mean.
I wonder what you want me to say to you.
When you and I are talking together
I see,
I hear,
I think
Much more than I could ever tell you.

kelley saunders

Freedom
To be totally free of ties
That restrict the way you live,
To wander aimlessly
To find what you can give.

Traveling from town to town
To see all there is to see Remaining a faithful loner
with no responsibility.

But in your search for reality
You merely find seclusion
You lose sight of your lofty goal and become tormented by delusion.

You chased the wind and raced the tide and lived in purity,
but now you see
you can't be free,
without security.

Some people search for rainbows,
Others grasp at straws
The life that's best is the one that fits
With it there are no flaws.

Bandages and Broken Dreams

Sometimes,
I wish I were a child
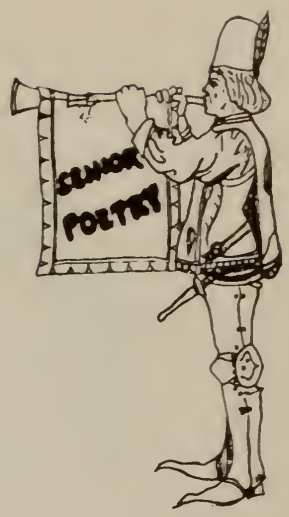
again . . .
skinned knees are easier to fix
than broken dreams.

a clock keeps the time
seconds, minutes, hours, and days
if gone, time won't heed.
mjp



so quiet.
my mind sounds so silent at night,
on lonely nights.
I know you now,
more than I ever knew you before.
unfortunately now, I love you more.
oh, I could cry at being deceived.
no, you were the one deceived
— by your own heart.
how sad, so very sad.
we were both searching
in each other's faces for something,
something very, very far away.
never knowing exactly what it was
and never finding it.
but you won't find it in her face.
you'll move on soon
and I'll know how she'll feel because a girl can find what she's looking for in your face,
because in your arms
a girl can feel like she has the whole world.
I could almost swear
that for a moment there, (once while you were caught in my gaze)
(and once when you were looking in my eyes)
that you could forget how slow time flies
when you're searching for something that you'll never find.

In 1985

In 1985, if, God willing, I'm still alive; I may have put fame into my life, or just be a contented wife. Right now, looking into my mind, I think this is the "me" you'll find; Perhaps a leader in the world of science, or frustrated with a new appliance. Delving into fields unknown, or sewing socks as yet unsewn. Finding a cure for a strange disease, or scrubbing floors on my hands and knees. An actress who is loved by all, or glad that Junior hit the ball. Marching in a protest riot, or thankful that the kids are quiet. The author of a best selling book, or teaching my daughter how to cook. An artist of world renown, or making sure the hamburg weighs a pound. Researching a miracle drug, or beating the dirt from the rug. Helping people in times of strife, or learning to be a better wife. A scientist working aboard Calypso, or kissing a tiny stubbed and hurting toe. Acclaimed as a great scupltor, or selling Avon door to door. An archaeologist digging lost cities, or giving away the largest litter of kitties. Wealthy, with more than one racy car, or putting preserves into a jar. Exploring and documenting the mysterious sea, or helping to decorate the Christmas tree. Maybe I'll get to do them all, that certainly would be a ball. Well, wherever I do happen to be, I'll be, living and loving and being me.

DGB

"Beneath the waves there are many dominions yet to be visited and kingdoms to be discovered, and he who venturously brings up from the abyss enough of their inhabitants to display the physiognomy of the country, will taste that cup of delight, the sweetness of whose draught only those who have made a discovery know."

Edward Forbes, "Natural History of European Seas," 1859

You may give them your love but not your thoughts, for they have their own thoughts.

You may house their bodies but not their souls, for their souls dwell in the house of tomorrow, which you cannot visit, not even in your dreams.

You may strive to be like them, but seek not to make them like you. For life goes not backward nor tarries with yesterday.

You are the bows from which your children as living arrows are sent forth.....

Tomorrow's dream
is not my dream:
It comes too late
and I can't wait.

Lyn

Mama won't let you go hungry!!!

Lyn

Three passions simple, but overwhelmingly strong have governed my life; the longing for love; the search for knowledge; and unbearable pity of the suffering of mankind.

Bertrand Russell

Humor is the saving sense:
If I did not laugh I would die

Lyn

And when I die
don't shed a tear.
The world will know
That I've been here.
